

Data Management

Managing data within an electronic medical record system can be a full-time job and, for larger implementations, may require a team of dedicated data managers.

Data management includes:

- Data quality
- Reporting
- Answering research questions