

Documentation Projects

Documentation projects are ones that don't necessarily require coding and software development skills. There are plenty of ways you can help us even if you don't know much about coding. Example might be like fun activities like translating OpenMRS, writing test scripts, expanding our REST API documentation, and much more. Please see our OpenMRS Documentation Guide for more information.

Visit OpenMRS talk and our contribution page to know more about the given topic.
